

WATER IS LIFE NATURE IS HOME

Khao Na Yak Discovery - Half Day Tour

You ever wondered where the best local snorkeling in Khao Lak might be. OK, it's not the Similan islands reefs, but we go to Khao Na Yak for some other sights and sounds as well...

We will pick you up from your Hotel in Khao Lak and drive down to our private pier in the Mangroves, south of Thap Lamu harbor. Here we sort out the snorkel equipment and depart on our speedboat slowly through the Mangroves, around Khao Na Yak cape. That's where we have our first snorkel stop. Arriving at the beach of Khao Na Yak you can organize a little orchestra with your feet; the sand is quite unique for its "singing" talent when you walk on it!

On the beach the guide will prepare some picnic in a secluded bay while you can explore the empty beach (15 km of National Park Beach - part of Hat Thai Muang National Park) or swim and snorkel (equipment included). After lunch you can embark on a short walking trek and maybe see some crab eating macaques, monitor lizards, birds, etc.

When we depart from the beach with our speedboat again we stop one more time for some snorkeling before we cruise slowly back through the Mangroves to our own little pier
